Excerpt: . . . approval of all drugs, but may overrule the decisions of subordinate officials. The authority to approve an OTC switch application ultimately rests with the Secretary of Health and Human Services. This approval authority is delegated to the Commissioner of FDA, then to other high-level management officials, and eventually to other FDA officials within lower levels of the agency. This delegated authority allows decisions to be made at lower levels within the agency but assumes that management agrees with these decisions. The FDA Commissioner and other officials within the Office of the Commissioner usually do not have a role in OTC switch decisions, but have the authority to overrule the decisions of other FDA officials. There are several types of contraceptive drugs and devices, including Contraceptives barrier methods, intrauterine devices, spermicides, and hormonal methods. Several types of hormonal methods of contraception are available, including birth control pills, injectable hormones, hormonal implants, and ECPs. FDA has approved two ECPs, Preven and Plan B, for use by prescription, and Plan B is the first...
